The multiage choice program is made up of classrooms where students of different ages are intentionally placed in the same classroom to take advantage of the natural diversity created. Instruction focuses on individual progress in both academic and social-emotional areas. At Valley Crossing, multiage classrooms are made up of kindergarten and first graders (K/1), second and third graders (2/3), and fourth and fifth graders (4/5). Students have the same classroom teacher for two years. This strengthens the relationship with students and families and helps teachers to know their students well. Teachers in multiage classrooms work together on teams to design and deliver instruction that is developmentally appropriate for learners. Children may work with another teacher on the team for a specific subject (most often math or reading).

The district's multiage choice program is located at Valley Crossing Elementary School. Transportation is provided for 833 resident students living more than one mile from Valley Crossing Elementary School.
