REPORT

Joni Hagebock, Principal at Oltman Middle School, will share Oltman's priorities and commitments as well as our progress toward our goal of providing an environment where students are not only inspired but also feel safe to learn and grow as scholars. We value collaboration and the power of collective efficacy. We are inspired by our students and take pride in being learners ourselves. We embrace the middle school philosophy and recognize that building strong relationships with students, families, and each other is foundational to our success. We value mastery as well as mistakes knowing that learning is a process, and that effort equals achievement.
