Spotlight on AES

Armstrong Elementary School staff recognize the value of teaching students to be successful in all areas. Each month, students learn about different aspects of character. In 3rd through 5th grades, students are also taught Advancement Via Individual Determination (AVID) strategies to help them develop organization and study skills to help improve their success at school. AES students also have the opportunity to take part in fine arts such as art, band, choir and orchestra.

Teachers at AES personalize learning for each student through relationships. Each student meets with their teacher before school begins. Families also meet with teachers at conferences and receive regular updates on their child's progress. Community involvement is also an important part of AES; there is an active Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) and several community-building events throughout the year.
